| WHAT | Here verification is done through a telephonic conversation with the concerned authority at the Institute. The authority is also checked. Call logs are maintained and shared with the clients. | In a Verifacts Advanced Check, verification is procured on a letter head or the education document in question is duly stamped and signed by the Institute itself and produced. | Here, the education document in question is duly stamped and signed by the College or University authorities confirming the genuine nature of the document. |
| WHEN | This is done when written verifications are taking time and an urgency decision needs to be taken. | When the need for written evidence is required to maintain compliance, we conduct this check. | This is the middle route when the client needs a written check but in a relatively shorter time. |
